

Land Swap With Belmont Rejected

Offers Made By Belmont Selectmen Turned Down By Local Officials — Counter Proposal Made By Local Joint Board — Deal Deemed Advisable Because Of New Highway Bordering Towns

Following a conference with the Belmont Board of Selectmen, the Arlington joint-board comprising the Selectmen and members of the Public Works Board last Monday evening rejected two proposals advanced by the Belmont officials in the matter of exchanging strips of land along the new Cambridge-Concord turnpike. The local board, however, has offered two counter proposals which may be considered at another meeting between officials of the two towns.

When the new highway was laid out, strips of Arlington land were left on the Belmont side of the road, and strips of Belmont land were found on the Arlington side of the highway. The proposed

Morine Out For School Board

John P. Morine of 63 Cleveland street has announced his candidacy for the School Committee in the March election. Mr. Morine has lived in Arlington for the past twenty-four years. He is a graduate of Tufts College and a town meeting member from Precinct One.

Mr. Morine is assistant director of the Ellis Memorial and Eldredge House, Inc., a settlement house on Berkeley street, Boston. Formerly he was with the Juvenile Court of Boston, organizing club work for delinquent boys. He has attended the Arlington schools.

Mr. Morine is a member of the Boston CityWide Boys' Work Conference, the United Settlements of Greater Boston, the Massachusetts Child Council, the Friends of the Drama, and Theta Delta Chi fraternity.

Mr. Morine believes that the viewpoint of a younger man will be beneficial to the school committee. Other things being equal, he is in favor of the appointment of local people to school vacancies. Mr. Morine is opposed to the interference by so-called "business men" of the committee into the prerogatives of the Superintendent of Schools to the detriment of the system. He is also opposed to the practice of false economy at the expense of the pupils. He is pledged to have the best possible school system within the budget as voted by the town meeting.

Alderson To Manage Well-Known Orchestra

Herbert O. Alderson, of 29 Appleton street, has assumed the duties of business manager of Frank McGinley's Orchestra. Mr. Alderson is well-known locally, being a town meeting member, vice president of the Young Republican Club, and former president of the Hais-for-Governor club.

Mrs. Ruth E. Sarnow, her son, Donald, 7, both former Arlington residents, and Mrs. Sarnow's aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Lay of Roslindale were killed in an automobile accident in New Mexico, the Boston Globe reported last Wednesday afternoon. They lived at 22 Moulton road.

YOUR COMMUNITY CHEST

If one dropped in at Headquarters Office of the Arlington Community Chest, Inc. at 655 Mass. ave last week, he would have been amazed at the activity of the numerous volunteers working so enthusiastically to assist in the volume of work necessarily entailed in preliminary plans for the Campaign. Among those were Mrs. Harold O'Shea, Mrs. William F. Homer, Jr., Mrs. M. F. Morrissey, Mrs. Ralph D. Kinney, Mrs. Edward A. Bailey and Mrs. Howard Bradford.

With the appointment of the various Chairmen and Assistant Chairmen of the 1937 Fund Campaign being made, constructive work is now well under way carrying out plans for the campaign, the date of which has been set as April 5 to 14 inclusive.

Last Friday evening, a meeting was held by Roger Homer, chairman of Publicity at which many prominent publicity men were present. The subject of publicity for the Campaign was discussed from every angle and Arthur P. Morley was appointed Chairman of the Committee on Publicity Material.

What is the Girl Scout Bugle and Drum Corps and why? This group of 60 girls is recruited from the ranks of Scout troops throughout the town, is open to all, and the more the merrier. It gives a sound fundamental training in drum and bugle work and the direction of the best instructors obtainable. It teaches posture, teamwork and discipline, and last but not least Girl Scouts on parade or at their rallies. Just an adjunct to a grand movement among growing girls from 10 to 20 years of age.

Protest Teaching Of Piano In Schools

Present System Of Group Teaching Now In Vogue In Local Public Schools Is Unfair, Piano-forte Teachers' Association Claims — Demand Hearing To Discuss Matter — Petition Sent School Board

The teaching of piano in the public schools is attacked in a petition to the School Committee by the Arlington Piano-forte Teachers Association. The piano is not an instrument which is adapted to mass instruction, and the present school method of teaching the piano in large groups has not proved itself to be productive of worthwhile results, this association claims.

When the present program was instituted in the public schools, it was expected to be a boon to parents and teachers alike. It was not intended as a substitute for private lessons but as a preparation for them. However, many children who should be taking private lessons are in school piano classes, and many of those who should have carried on with private lessons after completing the two years of school work did not

FORMER PUBLISHER OF NEWS LAID AT REST

Simple but impressive funeral services were held for James D. P. Wingate, former publisher of the Arlington News, at his late home on College avenue, Medford, last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Wingate, a well known newspaper man in New England and New York State, died last Monday at the age of eighty-two.

A profusion of flowers banked the casket of the man so well loved and esteemed by those who knew him. Rev. George W. Hyllton, minister of the Mystic Congregational church, officiated.

The remains were taken to Exeter, N. H., where committal services were held.

Previous to the burial, services were held at the Jenkins funeral chapel, Exeter. Rev. Paul T. Martin, pastor of the Exeter Congregational church, officiated. Burial was in the cemetery at Exeter.

Gives Brief Eulogy
In his eulogy of Mr. Wingate, Rev. Mr. Hyllton said:

Mr. Wingate was a man of sterling character and noble qualities. To his family and loved ones he was ever the devoted husband, loving and considerate father, wise counselor and companion. Always solicitous of the happiness and well-being of his family, he brought to the home a gentleness and sympathy which expressed themselves in acts of love and service. He was a good neighbor and friend, a public minded citizen who was always interested in the welfare of Medford.

The greater part of his active life was spent in the study of journalism and in the newspaper and publishing business.

As a successful newspaper publisher he enjoyed the highest regard and respect, as well as love of his associates in business. Those who were closely related to him in business found him a man of integrity, unstinting in loyalty and work. He assumed his business responsibilities with a high regard to personal obligations, never shirking the burdens of his duties.

Sympathetic and Devoted
Mr. Wingate possessed that rare quality of human kindness which expresses itself in personal sympathy and devotion, to those who were struggling to obtain a footing in the newspaper business. He was always extending the kind word of encouragement and creating opportunities for the young men who came within the compass of his influence. Many a newspaper man will rise up today and pay tribute to this personal interest of Mr. Wingate which gave him his first start in the newspaper fraternity.

He loved to help others and did it in his own quiet way. His companions in fraternal circles found him a brother who exemplified the spirit of friendship, charity and brotherly love.

Mr. Wingate suffered a great loss in the passing of his dear companion in 1933; since that time he has lived within the sympathy and devotion of his loved ones and old friends with whom he delighted to reminisce concerning the happy experiences of the past.

During the days of his failing health, his gentle spirit and courageous outlook, his loving appreciation of all that was done to make him comfortable, helped to relieve the anxiety and ministry of his devoted family.

On Monday morning, as the rising sun began to cast its soft and warming rays about the darkness of the dawn calling us to a new day, the soul of this gentle man was called to a new day in the world eternal.

For this mortal must put on immortality and this earthly house must be exchanged for that house not made with hands—eternal in the heavens.

Hood Official Is Speaker At Kiwanis Club

A complete outline of the wide scope of the milk industry in New England was given by Edgar A. Perry of the medical research department of the H. P. Hood Company at the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club in Wyman's yesterday.

Mr. Perry described the handling of milk, the safeguards used for health and the methods of distribution of milk in vogue today. Before opening his talk, he remarked about his many acquaintances in Arlington whom he met in athletic contests as a football player.

The milk industry ranks second highest in New England, the speaker said. Three quarters of a million farmers in this section are dependent upon the sale of milk and cream. The national crop, prices on milk regardless of the fact that it cut through many existing contracts. In this belief, the law cannot be enforced and it has already unfairly increased the cost of milk for large users. For example, institutions like the Massachusetts General Hospital using a large quantity of milk, must pay the same rate per quart as the small store buying but a few quarts. Massachusetts farmers are getting one to two cents more per quart than farmers of other sections. Mr. Perry said.

Mr. Perry next spoke of new developments in handling and delivering milk which are a great improvement over the old method of wagon delivery when milk was brought around in eight quart containers and poured out into containers of various kinds at the point of distribution. Mr. Perry described the methods of tuberculin testing cows, pasteurizing milk, and bottling it in sanitary capped bottles before it goes to the consumer. The testing of cows was originally started to help the farmers but now benefits the public. Mr. Perry pointed out. Describing the feeding of fish meal to cows to increase iodine content of milk, quash to increase vitamin B and the treatment of hay to give vitamin A, the speaker pointed out that cows are becoming more or less machines—producing certified milk. Radiated yeast is used with grain to increase the quality of milk in winter months, the speaker added.

Arlington Ties Rindge, 1 to 1

Arlington High's hockey sextet tied Rindge Tech, 1 to 1, in a game which opened at a fast clip and continued to go at a lively pace all the way. In the Boston Garden last Saturday afternoon. So fast was the game that several opportunities to score, especially in the last minutes of play, were thrown to the winds by a bunch of tired and weary players on both sides. Rindge scored first in the latter part of the opening period when Powers knocked in McAuliffe's rebound. Arlington tied the score in the middle of the second stanza when Peltor passed to Adams. The puck barely trickled in between the Cambridge goalie's legs. Several breaks dropped up during the remainder of the game but neither team seemed able to put them over.

The summary:
ARLINGTON

Local Townsendsites Honor Dr. Townsend On 70th Birthday

A huge cake was the center of attraction as one entered the hall at 55 Austin Street, Cambridge, last Wednesday evening. The occasion was in celebration of the 70th Birthday anniversary of the leader and founder of the Townsend organization, Dr. Francis Everett Townsend, whose name was inscribed in delicate green and pink frosting on the elaborate cake and lighted with the required number of candles.

The hall was filled to capacity with a very enthusiastic audience, including guests from surrounding cities and towns, several from Arlington attending. Speakers included Mrs. Abbie L. Tebbets of Waltham, first state organizer and ardent worker, who later was invited to cut the huge cake, when it was served with refreshments in the hall below; Miss Maida Putnam of Malden, recently elected president of the Youth Group of Greater Boston who told of the big mass meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, January 24, conducted entirely by the young people.

Many other speakers paid high tribute to Dr. Townsend and the humanitarian, nation-wide organization of which he is president and leader. An appropriate telegram was sent to him by the united gathering. Delightful music was furnished by the Youth Group Chorists accompanied by Mrs. Putnam.

ADVERTISING TO CURB DEPRESSION

That good advertising will avert another depression in the future was convincingly brought out by Edward A. Filene, president of William Filene's Sons Company in an address to the Advertising Club of Boston this week. The words of this internationally-known merchant may well be heeded.

"Advertising is the voice of business," he said. "Not to advertise is just plain dumb. Fortunately, business men have generally learned this. Our problem is not that of advertising or not advertising. It is the problem, rather, of adequately voicing the almost revolutionary changes which are now occurring in our business world. It is my object, to bring out basically and most clearly how necessary the right kind of advertising is in order to mitigate or avert nation-wide or world-wide definite dangers which already exist, and must continue to exist in increasing degree if the adjustments to these new times, in which the power of the masses is becoming conscious and active, are not brought about rapidly and definitely enough."

Answering the possible objection that "advertising is too costly to be expended in an effort to educate the masses to an understanding of what is happening," Mr. Filene said that if such a programme overcame the problems that are now threatening "the expenditure will pay and pay abundantly."

TIME FOR ACTION

It's time we took taxation out of politics. Republicans pay taxes. Democrats pay taxes. So do Socialists and Communists. And no political party has a clear record on tax legislation. Spokesmen for all parties have long promised tax reduction—and then, once they took office, proceeded to raise taxes. Members of all parties have done their part to fasten a leech-like bureaucracy upon us—and you can't have bureaucratic government and efficient, economical government at the same time.

During the campaign, we heard more promises of tax reduction from all political quarters. Now the time for conversation is past, and the time for action has arrived. Promises demand fulfillment—pledges cry out to be redeemed. Unless we are to be utterly crushed under a tax burden that is already sapping more than 20 per cent of the national income, the American people must demand that statesmanship take the place of politics, and that a sincere effort to really reduce the cost of government be made.

Last Friday evening, the meeting of the Trefol League was held at the home of Mrs. Helen Currie on Paul Revere rd. The evening was devoted to a discussion of plans for the tenth anniversary of the League in February. After adjournment delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

The kidnapping and murder of young Charles Mattson has aroused the entire nation. That it should be the first major crime of this sort in more than a year emphasizes how much has been accomplished in safeguarding society.

Although Business Week Magazine points out that the General Motors strike is providing a breathing spell for steel mills which can now supply back orders for other industries outside the automobile manufacturing group, the effect of the strike may become acute if it is not settled soon.

John L. Lewis announces, "The Strike will be fought to a finish." Governor Frank Murphy says, "The public authority must prevail at all costs."

Lewis' announcement that the auto workers' union is growing daily by the thousands and that the strike will expand is none too bright. The strike may give dealers a chance to dispose of used cars, but what about new cars when the normal spring demand comes? Let's hope for quick settlement.

Land "Swap"

"swap" would more or less establish the new highway as the boundary line between the two towns.

Belmont's two proposals were:
1. That the Mary street and Spring street sections become part of Arlington. Then, that the Village Hill road section above Park Avenue to the edge of the Arlmont Village development be given Belmont.

2. That the center line of the pike be made the boundary so that all the present Arlington areas on the south side of the road be made Belmont property and all Belmont area on the north side become Arlington land.

Local officials rejected this because it would mean losing Arlmont Village as well as the Village Lane section.

Arlington's Proposals

The proposal advanced by the local officials is:
That Arlington take the Mary street and Spring street areas of Belmont and exchange these for the area on the southerly side of the pike from Village Hill road approximately 955 feet. Arlington would be willing to recommend additional alteration in the boundary so that the area extending 955 feet westerly from Village Hill road to the land of Arlmont Village be given Belmont provided that Arlington be given the right without charge to connect into, and use, the proposed Belmont sewer at, or near, the land of the Arlmont Country club and Arlmont Village for the purpose of accommodating such portion of this Arlington area as may properly be accommodated.

Whatever is done in the matter, it is understood, will have to be approved by the town meeting.

3-YEAR-OLD GETS PERMANENT

Little 3-year-old Caroline Walls of 40 Newport street received her first machineless permanent wave at Max Parker's Beauty Shoppe, 950 Massachusetts Avenue recently. Though a very young customer, Miss Walls was highly satisfied. Her experience was pleasant and the results so satisfactory that she was overjoyed to express delight over her first machineless wave. Once again the high type of workmanship at Max Parker's Beauty Shoppe was demonstrated.

Piano Teaching

do so, it is claimed.

The private teachers contend that it is impossible to impart sound fundamental training in large piano classes. While band and orchestral instruments may well be taught in groups where each pupil can be held an instrument and play in ensemble, the piano class should be limited to four pupils per hour, since there is but one piano in the classroom, the teachers assert. At present, about 90 percent of the pupil's time in the public school piano class is wasted waiting for his turn of 3 or 4 minutes at the piano, it is alleged.

The teaching of piano in the public schools has reached such proportions that private piano teachers are being deprived of their livelihood, it is claimed. The local piano teachers say, also, that noted musical educators and the music profession as a whole agree with their stand.

A hearing before the school committee will be held January 19 on the petition which follows: "To the Honorable School Committee of the Town of Arlington: We, the undersigned, are opposed to the method of piano instruction as now set up in the public schools of Arlington. We believe that mass piano instruction is neither practicable nor educationally sound.

"We are also opposed to the plan now in vogue in Arlington under which one teacher, with her assistant, is given the exclusive opportunity to secure pupils for private instruction, being allowed the free use of school buildings, school equipment and pupils' lists, not available to other piano teachers."

The petition has been signed by prominent local citizens and musicians. It is understood that the hearing will be public.

The Arlington Piano Teachers' association feels that in view of the fact that it is offering group teaching of piano, in classes small enough to maintain the high standards for which the association stands, it could take care of the demands of children of the town wishing to study piano at very reasonable rates.

Members of the association, the NEWS learned, include: Ruth D. Bellows, president; Leon Biganess, secretary; Helen Tracey, treasurer; Juliette B. Houle, Adelaide Proctor, Alice Lenk, Katherine Yerrington, Amy Whittle, Alice Thoren, Edward Diggs, Thya Upton.

STATE AND ORPHEUM THEATRES

The new program at both Loew's State and Orpheum theatres will open on Thursday. The program will be made up of two Columbia productions "Pennies From Heaven," starring Bing Crosby and "More Than A Secretary," co-starring Jean Arthur and George Brent.

"Pennies From Heaven," marks Crosby's first appearance under the banner of Emanuel Cohen. The picture was directed by Norman Z. McLeod from a screen play by Jo Swerling and concerns Larry Poole, (Bing Crosby) an ex-convict vagabond troubadour, who is asked by a condemned murderer in prison to look up the family of the murdered man. Larry finds a little girl and her grandfather, poverty stricken, then begins the highly entertaining tale of how Larry contrives to keep the child and the elderly man out of the country institution while falling in love with a well-to-do worker whose duty is to put them there.

"More Than A Secretary," co-stars Jean Arthur and George Brent and is the riotous romantic comedy drama of a shy beauty and her bran-fied boss. Included in the supporting cast are Lionel Stander, Ruth Donnelly, Reginald Denny.

Harvard vs Princeton

At Garden Saturday;

Local Boys Will Play

After their rather inconclusive game last Saturday night against Dartmouth, the Harvard hockey team takes on Princeton at the Garden on Saturday night. There is no denying that Harvard did not show to its best advantage against Dartmouth. The marathon game against Toronto took its toll from the Crimson, and they consequently appeared a bit stale. On the other hand the Harvard team will have to be at its best to top the Tigers. Princeton, after a disappointing start, in which it lost one sided games to Toronto and McGill, showed definite signs of improvement against the University of Montreal.

On the other half of the Saturday doubleheader, the Olympics are meeting the most formidable opponents they have tackled so far. The New York Rangers, farm team of the New York Rangers, and members of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League, are a real hockey team. That famous "kid line" of the Rangers are graduates of the Rovers. Every year Lester Patrick takes the Rangers to Winnipeg to train. While the Rangers are in training, Patrick invites the most likely looking amateurs in the vicinity to train with the big leaguers. After looking them all over, Lester brings the "cream of the crop" back to New York to play with the Rovers. He keeps no player over one season if he is convinced that the boy isn't big league timber. As a result of this system, the Rovers present plenty of new faces each year and are usually in the thick of the scramble for the championship of the Eastern Amateur Hockey League. Arlington boys play on the Harvard and Boston Olympic teams.

ARTHUR CLARE

Funeral services for Arthur Clare, 73, were held in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church last Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Grady D. Feagan, pastor of the church, officiated. Burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mr. Clare who retired from the shoe business ten years ago, died Sunday morning after a long illness. He was born in Birmingham, England but has been a resident of Arlington for forty years where he has been active in church and Sunday School work. He lived on Jason Terrace.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Ellen Morris Clare; three sons, Frank J. of Lexington, Arthur E. and Harold of Arlington, and three daughters, Mrs. Nils Aisen (Nellie C.), Mrs. Mark L. Sorensen (Eunice C.), Mrs. George E. Miller (Pauline C.), all of Arlington, and seventeen grandchildren, one nephew, Robert Clare of Waltham, and two brothers in England.

M. Serpa, of 12 Moulton road, left for Florida with his nephew, a Taunton business man, last night to remain in Florida for Sunday evening. Mr. Serpa expects to return in two months.

Babies Born To Two Sisters; Both Share Same Hospital Room

The Boston Post reported the following interesting story last week.
Two sisters, who share a two-family house at 5 Dorothy road,
Arlington, presented their husbands with babies two days apart and are now sharing the same room at the Waltham Hospital.
First, Mrs. William J. Connell became the mother of a son.
Her first child died and the six-pound baby now resting comfortably at the hospital is her second. The daughter born to Mrs.
Garfield Hyde two days later is considerably larger than her cousin. She weighs nine pounds, six ounces. Both the mothers and their babies are doing well, hospital doctors say.

Welfare Council Gives Thanks For Xmas Aid

December 29, 1936

Dear Editor:

Please grant me space in your paper so that in this manner, I may thank the many generous-minded Arlington residents for their prompt response to our appeal for cash and foodstuffs for Christmas Basket Work.

We wish to publicly thank the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, The American Legion, and all the many civic and fraternal organizations, church groups, and other agencies who gave so much of their time and money to the Christmas work which made it possible to pass on to more than two hundred families a little extra Christmas cheer that otherwise would have been lacking.

Also we wish to express our appreciation for the work accomplished by the Arlington Garden Club, and the Sunshine Club in bringing into the homes of the "Slut" — the aged, infirm, crippled and blind — such attractive plants and baskets of delicacies.

Thus emphasizing the Christmas spirit to those confined to their homes.

Without this hundred percent co-operation, the Welfare Council would be unable to state that this Christmas period just ending has been one of the most satisfactory and successful in many years.

The Arlington Welfare Council extends to all the wish for a most prosperous and happy New Year.

Cordially yours,

Sonia E. Perry, President The Arlington Welfare Council

Arlington A. A. To Play Barry Club

The Arlington Athletic Association Big Red Basketball team has booked the strong Barry Club of Cambridge for next Sunday afternoon at the Newton Hall, Cambridge.

Arlington will try to make it seven wins out of eight and will have its hands full with the former B. C. stars. Nob in recent years has an Arlington team made such an impression by its youth and color.

Charles Crocco's boys have a schedule that calls for plenty of hard games but the squad is of the best and will be heard from in amateur circles. The games now listed are with Salem, Lynn, Lowell, Cambridge, Somerville and Waltham. Unless something unforeseen happens Arlington will probably again represent this section in the Tourney at Salem this season.

Ruth A. Buckley On Carnival Committee
At New Hampshire U

(Special to Arlington News)
Durham, N. H., Jan. 15.—Ruth A. Buckley, daughter of D. J. Buckley of Arlington, a sophomore at the University of New Hampshire, has been appointed a member of the Trophies Committee of the Winter Carnival. The theme for the 1937 Winter Carnival will be Switzerland, with the hope that fraternities, sororities and dormitories through their snow sculpture will transform the University of New Hampshire scene to that of a Saint Moritz with their reproductions of Swiss winter scenes.

Features of this year's carnival, are expected to include presentations of fancy skating, dog races, the annual snow carnival, sports events, the Carnival Ball and fraternity dances.

Greek Musical Genius
Leads Boston Symphony

An exciting conductor, who leads from memory and without baton, and with unconventional gesture achieves most musically and soul-searching interpretations, Dimitri Mitropoulos arrived recently from his native Athens, Greece, to be guest conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra during the two weeks' annual Winter vacation of Serge Koussevitzky. The forty-year-old bald Athenian is appearing in Symphony Hall not only as conductor, but piano virtuoso and composer.

On Friday afternoon and Saturday evening, Jan. 15, 16, Mitropoulos will be soloist in Respighi's "Toccata" for piano and orchestra, which he will also conduct. At the same pair of concerts, he will introduce the Great C-Sharp Minor Quartet of Beethoven as a piece for the entire string section of the orchestra. He does this to spread the acquaintance of the public with what he declares to be the marvelous beauties of this quartet, because more people are attracted to orchestral than to string quartet performances.

For the Monday Evening concert of Jan. 18, the Athenian guest conductor will repeat his previous program, with the exception of the Toccata. This will replace with Schumann's Violoncello Concerto. The soloist will be who in his recent New York debut confirmed his advance reputation from Europe as a temperamentally fiery and technically dazzling artist.

Heights Study Club
Hears Two Papers

The Arlington Heights Study Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Perley K. Griffin, 26 Florence ave. A delicious tea was served before the meeting by Mrs. T. Gordon Smith and Mrs. Thomas L. Woodworth.

The president, Mrs. Clifford R. Dumble, presided at the business meeting, and then presented Mrs. George T. Standbridge whose paper told of "Yankee Clippers."

Mrs. Perley K. Griffin's paper on "Whale-Out" was particularly interesting as her father was captain of several whaling vessels, and Mrs. Griffin when a child went on a voyage of two years.

Three piano solos, "Intermezzo" by Brahms, "Spanish Dance" by Turina and the "Sonata with Variations" by Mozart were rendered by John Hession.

Card Of Thanks

Mr. Ernest E. Andrews and family wish to express their sincere thanks to their many friends and neighbors for the floral tributes and kindness shown in their recent bereavement of wife and mother, Mrs. Margaret S. Andrews.

Over Fifty Men
Of Calvary Enjoy
Dinner Meeting

Over fifty men enjoyed a most interesting evening at the dinner meeting of the Men of Calvary in the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Church, East Arlington, last Tuesday evening.

A delicious turkey dinner was served by the ladies of the church after which those present heard an inspirational message by Arthur J. Mansfield who was the guest speaker of the evening. He was introduced by Charles H. Bowker, president of the class.

Paul Ziegler, the first president of the Men of Calvary, reviewed the excellent work done by the group since the class was started. He pointed to the enthusiastic gathering as an indication of the possibilities offered in the future. He further stated that such a group could be of considerable help to the pastor and that great achievement might be expected under the leadership of the new president, Mr. Bowker.

During the evening community singing was enjoyed and several selections were rendered by a quartet, Leslie Bingham, William Hamilton, Murray Purdy and Warren Crocker. Bob Anderson of radio fame, also delighted his listeners with songs and stories. Bob was introduced as "the genial Scot."

The Men of Calvary meet every Sunday morning at 9.30 o'clock and every man in the community not attending church elsewhere is cordially invited to visit the class meetings.

Junior High East
Observes Christmas
With Holiday Play

The Junior High School East very appropriately observed the holiday season with a play "The Spirit of Christmas" written by Miss Richards and Miss Hunt, of the English department. During the play, song, dance and story were greatly enjoyed. The audience watched a group of young sophisticates won back to a simple joy in Christmas. This was brought about when their smug discontent was invaded by joyous revelers who sang and danced, and by two charming waifs who made the Thayers forget themselves in a desire to give pleasure to the waifs. With the dimming of the lights the Thayers and the audience were carried back to the origin of Christmas, when the kings came singing and offering gifts before the child in the manger of the nativity.

The stage, under the competent artistry of Miss Hilton, was most attractive. The left half showed the Thayer's living room. It's fireplace, bookcase, candles and tree made a tasteful and mellow background. Outside were a snow covered high wall with heavy gates and snow covered evergreens. When the time went back to the first Christmas, the gates opened to disclose a most impressive tableau of the nativity.

The gay costumes of the revelers and the appropriate robes of the children in the nativity scene were made possible through the efforts of Miss Rhoades.

Under the direction of Mrs. Evans and Mr. Mazzocco, music in keeping with the story was well carried out.

Following is a list of the children taking part in the assembly.
